JACK DIDN'T WIN ADAM DID

*Adam Royle, Hinchinbrook Sportfishing Club
—mangrove jack.*

What a brilliant turnout for last months competition, thanks to a bucket load of competitors. A number of mangrove jacks were caught by our friendly adversaries Hinchinbrook Sportfishing Club (HSC) with Adam Royle and his daughter Kirra coming in first and second place respectively. HSC employed tag and release, so there are a couple of nice fish waiting to be caught, again, somewhere...out there. HSC also took home the meat tray, a donation from Cardwell Butchery.

Thanks Callan. I'm happy to say in third place was Ian Walters and coming in close behind him was me. Other members who supported the weekend and caught some nice fish, included Geoff Reading, David Hickey, Terry Duncan, and Cameron Gardiner. Were we upset that Adam and his family took out first prize and the meat tray? Nah. Its all good. We're good sports. In fact we plan to be good sports again when we destroy them in the NQ Championships on 4-6 May. For full details of this competition which will take the place of our usual monthly competition, see this link <https://goo.gl/3vzTwJ> May is looking to be a busy fishing month with the 2018 ANSA Qld statewide species challenge also taking place from 5-7 May. See <http://www.ansaqld.com.au/statewide-species-challenge/> This event is free and open to all ANSA members, that means you —> Cardwell Sportfishers. ANSA makes these events so easy with fish captures and photos able to be recorded on an online form. <http://www.ansaqld.com.au/awards/entry-form/> What have you got to lose except some enjoyable sportfishing alone, or not out on the water. Happy Fishing

Ian Walters came third in the Jack Attack fishing competition with this superb grunter and a nice fingermark. Onya Ian.

Chris Stoter with a nice selection of estuary fish.

ANSA Code of Ethics

- Obey and respect the local regulations and conventions that govern fishing in your chosen area.
- Purposefully conduct yourself in a manner such as to minimise any negative impacts on the environment. Being mindful of anchoring and speed restrictions is as important as preventing littering, pollution and habitat destruction.
- The fish's environment should be protected as well as the fish. Do not indulge in littering, in particular with discarded tackle. Disposal of offal and unwanted bait should be undertaken in a manner that is both environmentally sound and publicly acceptable.
- Respect the rights and interests of others especially other anglers and commercial fishers who are legally participating in the fishery.
- Respect the rights of property owners including those that exclude access for personal or cultural reasons and negotiate access to waters rather than trespass.
- Participate where possible in scientific, educational and community programs that benefit the fishery or recreational anglers.
- Fish taken should be killed quickly and should be prepared and preserved in such a manner as to minimise spoilage and waste. Where a fish is not wanted it should be returned in such a manner as maximises its chances of survival. Wanton destruction of undesired species is unacceptable. Limit your catch – not catch your limit.
